Hi Ken,

Good timing, I was planning to call you and Vivian to check on your availability for a site visit in February. But if you prefer, we can first have a conference call to get an update on your recent conversations with the residents and discuss the site visit schedule. How are your and Vivian's schedules looking next week for a call?

Maher,

Just checking in on Haystack. I know I missed the last call, I had the wrong time zone. I would like to touch base and eventually schedule a meeting date. I would also like to discuss the site in the near future as Vivian and myself have had a conversation with the residents that we should discuss. If you could reach out to your clients and see what dates and times work for them, maybe we could talk soon?

Thanks,
